

Volunteer role description

Travel Buddy – Finchley Hub

Organisation

Jami is a mental health charity that enriches and saves lives impacted by mental illness in the Jewish community.

Since the start of the pandemic, demand for our services has grown exponentially. In 2021 we undertook a thorough review of the needs of the community, to develop a new strategy that will secure the Jewish community's mental health provision. The new strategy sets out a huge agenda for change in scale and provision, which will be developed over the next five years while we continue to run our diverse set of highly professional mental health services:

- Advice and advocacy
- Treatment and support
- Education and campaigning

Jami currently supports over 1,400 individuals, delivering almost 50,000 separate service interactions each year, and reaches thousands more people through education, seminars, work in schools and other organisations. Through our social enterprise community café, Head Room, we raise mental health awareness while delivering mental health support on the high street.

Role Purpose

When we are experiencing mental ill-health, we can become withdrawn which can lead to feelings of loneliness and isolation, which in turn can exacerbate any mental health issues we may be experiencing.

Our hubs offer a safe space for members to socialise, meet new people, and engage in different groups and activities. This is a vital service which plays a key role in reducing loneliness and isolation and helps people to build new relationships and to stay socially connected, as part of a mutually supportive community.

We are currently looking for a volunteer to support our members when needed in travelling on public transport, this could be to an appointment, or to and from the hub if needed. This role would not involve any physical support and is more about providing a level of reassurance and encouragement.
